

Pantry Of Hope

December 2020

Money Management: A presentation on budgeting, saving and building credit.

Eva Chavez

Keynote speaker

Heritage Enactus is proud to present our legacy project Pantry Of Hope!

This year, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, we will not be giving away a pantry filler, instead we are providing the first 100 households who register and participate in watching the videos, the opportunity to receive a $ 50 Walmart gift card courtesy of Heritage Enactus.

This year Pantry Of Hope will become a virtual experience! Eva Chávez will give a presentation on Money Management that will cover topics such as budgeting, savings, and credit building in two 30 minute videos.

Eva Chavez is the Business Development Officer for Lower Valley Credit Union (LVCU), where she has been working for approximately 2.5 years. In her role, she has been helping LVCU provide financial education to the community by conducting workshops in English and Spanish. Eva believes that understanding how to manage our personal finances is crucial to leading a healthy financial life, and she likes to pass this belief on to the community through her role at LVCU.

Find the link to register on our Facebook page! Enactus Heritage University

Gift cards are limited to the first 100 participants who register through our link and provide valid information and address, in order for delivery of the gift card. Eligibility is a first come first serve basis.

How to enter!

Enactus@heritage.edu

Enactus.Hu